

Blackboard Online Workshop for Faculty

You can log into this workshop by using your CUNYFirst credentials to get into Blackboard. Go to the CUNY website at <https://www.cuny.edu/> In the far upper right-hand corner, you will see login. Pull down the menu to select Blackboard. Then use your CUNYFirst credentials to get into Blackboard.

Since this online workshop is for training purposes, you are all enrolled as students. So look for courses in which you are participating as a student. You will need to scroll down beneath the courses that you are teaching. However, if you still have difficulty finding the workshop, email itec@citytech.cuny.edu If you have trouble with your CUNYFirst login, please contact the CIS help desk at helpdesk@citytech.cuny.edu

Additional online support for Blackboard can be found on our Faculty Blackboard page. Additional support for online teaching will be found in the Blackboard Online Workshop for Faculty and on our City Tech Online page. If your students need extra help, they can also log into Blackboard and ask their questions in the Blackboard Online Workshop for Students. Please see the Academic Continuity website for help with OpenLab, email, online MS Office, etc.

The following fully online workshops and presentations are designed to help you with your online teaching this semester. Some workshops will be held in the City Tech Blackboard Basics for Faculty, Fall 2022 course where all faculty are enrolled as students. Go to the workshop and click on ITEC LIVE BLACKBOARD WORKSHOPS up to 15 minutes before the session begins in Collaborate. Some workshops will be held on Zoom where faculty must register for the workshop in advanced to receive the Zoom link and password. If you need help, email itec@citytech.cuny.edu

Hybrid Blackboard Workshop

Online, Monday, August 15th – Friday, December 23rd.

Take any face-to-face Blackboard workshop below, and have online support while learning the system. You do not need to participate for the full length of the hybrid workshop, but you can use support materials and ask questions online throughout the month. Alternatively, just participate online and have access to videos, course documents, and instructors to answer your questions. Live Collaborate sessions can also be arranged.
